

成都石室中学 2024—2025 学年度下期高 2027 届半期考试

英语参考答案

第一部分 听力理解

1-5 BABCA 6-10 CACBA 11-15 BCBCA 16-20 BCBAC

第二部分 阅读理解*第一节

21-23 ACD 24-27 CACD 28-31 BADB 32-35 ADDD

第二节

36-40 FBAGE

第三部分 英语知识运用*第一节 完形填空

41-45 BADDC 46-50 ACCBB 51-55 DADDD

第二节 语法填空

56. of	57. has been driven	58. vary	59. living	60. the
61. when	62. To protect	63. scientific	64. volunteers	65. gradually

第四部分 任务型阅读*第一节 词语填空

66. presented	67. low	68. grew	69. spotted	70. hesitation
71. offered	72. neatly	73. left-behind	74. Luckily	75. dusk

第二节 回答问题

76. Holly felt disappointed\heart-broken\unhappy\gloomy\sad, because she couldn't believe her best friend just sent her such shabby gifts.

77. Holly felt excited about\at the invitation, though pretending not to be interested in it.

78. Holly might hold a feeling of relief and regret since she had learnt about the real meaning of Susan's birthday gift. After getting home, she would possibly rush to the garbage bag and try to find the gift in it.

第二节 写作*Possible version:

Dear Henry,

Thank you for your last letter. Knowing your keen interest in Chinese literature, I'm eager to recommend a classic Chinese novel to you.

Written by Wu Chengen in the Ming Dynasty, when social conflicts were serious and religious thoughts boomed, Journey to the West is a household name nationwide.

It depicts four monks who battle demons and overcome 81 hardships along their adventurous journey to seek truth. The most outstanding character, Monkey King, is a courageous hero, bravely challenging authority and loyally safeguarding his master.

The reason for my recommendation is that this novel not only entertains me with its magical plots but also inspires me to stay determined in life's journey.

In short, this novel is really worth reading. You won't regret if you try. (120 词)

Yours sincerely,
Li Hua

评分标准: 开头+简介 4 分; 主要情节+人物 (3 分+3 分) 6 分; 推荐理由 3 分; 结尾 2 分; 书写 5 分

第一部分 听力理解

1-5 BABCA 6-10 CACBA 11-15 BCBCA 16-20 BCBAC

听力原文:

(Text 1)

M: Susan, does everyone in your family have blonde hair?

W: No. My father has brown hair and my sister Amy has the same hair color as his. But she is considering dying her hair black.

(Text 2)

M: I heard residents in your town still preserve their own traditions and live in old wooden houses.

W: You're right. Residents in my town mainly belong to the Miao and Tujia ethnic minorities. We have our own traditions. So are you also a member of an ethnic minority?

M: No. I'm a member of China's most numerous ethnic group.

(Text 3)

M: Jennifer, I heard you're traveling to a town in Czech Republic this weekend. Are you going to visit anyone there?

W: No. The small town holds thousands of strange records and is hosting a festival to show them. I really want to go and have a look.

(Text 4)

W: Henry, do you love reading the book?

M: Not really.

W: Why? It's a book about a trip in space. I thought you were interested in such books.

M: Well, it's in French. My French vocabulary is quite limited.

(Text 5)

W: Mark, do you know who was the first champion of the 2020 Tokyo Olympics?

M: Yes. I know it's a Chinese girl. Her name is on the tip of my tongue.

W: It's Qian Yang. She won the 10-meter rifle shooting competition on Saturday, July 24, 2021.

M: You're right.

(Text 6)

M: Wang Mei, you can speak English very well. Have you ever studied in an English-speaking country?

W: No. Though I haven't been to an English-speaking country, I have my own ways of speaking to native English speakers.

M: So how do you meet native English speakers?

W: Sometimes I go to foreign bars and restaurants. I also go to sports clubs and social clubs. But I usually go to language exchange centers to practice my English. I heard you're learning French and Spanish. Why do you learn the languages?

M: My work means I have to meet tourists from all over the world. I need to explain tourist attractions to them.

(Text 7)

W: Jason, didn't you say you want to find some volunteer work this summer?

M: Yes. I love volunteer work that involves dog rescuing.

W: Then why not volunteer for DFW Pug Rescue? It's looking for volunteers aged 20 and over to rescue and care for dogs.

M: But I'm not 20 years old yet.

W: You'll turn 20 this July, won't you? Then you can volunteer for it.

M: You're right. So what do volunteers need to do?

W: They need volunteers in various areas, such as sports events, transportation, social media, newsletters, and marketing. So which area are you most interested in?

M: Well, I really want to help find owners for the dogs on the Internet. So are you a volunteer for the organization?

W: Yes. I help it with marketing.

(Text 8)

W: It's already 4:30 pm. You're half an hour late. What happened?

M: Something unexpected happened on my way here. While I was waiting for my bus, I saw a car moving slowly in a strange way. When I looked into an open window, I saw a man bending over the wheel.

W: That was terrible.

M: Yes. I immediately realized something was wrong. So I jumped into the moving car through the open window and stepped on the brake of the car.

W: So did you take the man to the hospital?

M: No. It turned out that two police officers were following the vehicle, but they failed to notice that medical help was needed. It was they that took the man to hospital for treatment.

W: No wonder you were late. Well, you've done something great. You're really a hero. But now let's order our food.

M: So you haven't ordered yet?

W: No. I don't know what you love eating.

(Text 9)

M: Who is this beautiful woman on your computer?

W: It's Natalie Portman. She's a famous actress in the US.

M: She looks pretty young. So when was she born?

W: She was actually born in 1981. She's in her early 40s now. This picture was taken 10 years ago, you know.

M: So what did her parents do?

W: Her father is a doctor and her mother is an American-born artist.

M: So was she born in the US?

W: No. She was born in Jerusalem, Israel. But her family left Israel for Washington D.C. when she was still very young. After a few more moves, her family finally settled in New York City, where she still lives to this day.

M: Did she receive a good education?

W: Yes. Her academic achievements allowed her to attend Harvard University.

M: So how did her acting career begin?

W: She was discovered by an agent in a pizza house at the age of 11. She was pushed towards a career in modeling, but she finally quit it because she loved acting better.

M: So what are her famous movies?

W: Her first movie Léon in 1994, Heat in the following year, Beautiful Girls and Mars Attacks in 1996, to name just a few.

(Text 10)

M: In the spring of 2021, 12 sailing teams from around the world competed in the first-ever Ocean Race Europe. The race set off from Lorient, France, on May 29, 2021. Teams of 6 to 10 people spent 22 days sailing the Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea to the finish line, in Genoa, Italy. That's where the race ended, on June 19, 2021. Two classes of speedy sailboats raced in the event: the IMOCA and the VO65. Offshore Team Germany won the IMOCA class race. And Portugal's Mirpuri Foundation Racing Team won the VO65 class. The Ocean Race Europe presented plenty of challenges. Teams were on their boats for three straight weeks. When you were on board, all you do was race, eat, and sleep. There was no Internet connection and there were no movies.

There wasn't even a fridge or a freezer inside the boat. The Ocean Race Europe has a larger purpose. During the race, the boats collected scientific data from the salty waters. The data is shared with scientists. It provides insight about how the ocean is affected by climate change. Scientists use the data to further understand and advocate the world's changing environment and seas.

