四、参考范文

One possible version

Good morning, everyone. Today I'd like to recommend The Little Prince, a book that has accompanied me for many years. The book depicts the journey of a young prince who travels from planet to planet, meeting various people and learning vital lessons about life.

I recommend this book for two main reasons. First, its language is simple yet beautiful, making it enjoyable to read. Second, it may seem like a simple children's story, but it actually speaks to readers of all ages, inspiring us to stay curious and imaginative. Reading The Little Prince not only opens my mind but also warms my heart. I hope you will enjoy it as much as I do.

That's all. Thanks for listening.

第二节（满分 25 分）

One possible version:

To my surprise, Katrina leaned in, her eyes widening with interest rather than disgust. "That smells amazing," she exclaimed. "Is it homemade?" I nodded hesitantly, expecting the usual teasing. Instead, the other girls gathered closer, their expressions curious and friendly. When I explained that it was my mom's fried tofu, they eagerly asked questions about how it was made. For the first time, I described her cooking with genuine pride. As each of them tried a piece, Katrina nodded enthusiastically. The tension in my shoulders eased, replaced by a quiet flicker of happiness.

That afternoon, as I climbed into my mom's car, the first thing I did was thank her for packing the tofu. She looked at me, puzzled but pleased. I told her everything – my worries, the girls' reactions, and how they had loved her cooking. As she listened, her expression softened into a warm smile I had missed for a long time. That night, when she asked what to pack for lunch, I didn't hesitate. "The fried tofu, please. And maybe a little extra to share." I learned that embracing my heritage could open doors to understanding and friendship, one shared meal at a time.

附：听力原文

Text 1 繁忙工作

M: Why're you so tired?

W: You must be joking. It's still two weeks before Christmas, and the store is flooded with more and more customers. I've been on my feet all day, serving one after another.

Text 2 日常生活

M: Hi, Amy! You're home early! Did Grandad go and get you from the cinema?

W: Oh, Jane's dad works near the cinema, so we wanted to ask him to collect us but then Jane's older brother came past in his car and picked us up.

Text 3 就餐交谈

M: I'm terribly sorry, Madam, but we are fully booked this evening until 9:30 p.m.

W: Look, I'm a regular customer. Isn't there any chance that we could be given a table for two? We just need something very quick before the play starts.

Text 4 小说作家

W: I've never heard of Philippa Gregory.

M: Really! She's just written a great, new, historical novel and loads of her stuff is adapted for TV.

W: I guess historical novels just aren't my kind of thing.

Text 5 交通罚单

M: I can't believe you got a ticket. Did you run a red light?

W: Not exactly. I was driving at 40 miles an hour in a school zone. The fine is huge! It's a lot more than the fine for going the wrong way on a one-way street.

Text 6 列车班次

W: Oh look! You've missed it!

M: Oh, typical! They're always late if I'm early, but if I get there a few seconds late, they leave dead on time!

W: The next one's at five thirty. I don't mind hanging around with you. I'll go and get two coffees.

M: Well, take your time. It says that the five-thirty one is going to be 20 minutes late!

Text 7 信用卡办理

W: Good morning. How may I help you?

M: Hi, I requested a credit card from you a week ago, but I haven't received it yet.

W: Do you remember which one you ordered?

M: I don't remember the name, but I know it gave discounts on gas stations.

W: Oh, sorry, we're actually all out of them. Is there any other card you are interested in?

M: Well, I do shop a lot. Do you have one for that?

W: Yes, we do. I can issue you that right away. I just need to see your ID card, if you don't mind.

M: Of course not.

Text 8 公园志愿服务

M: Are you still going to the local park every day?

W: Of course! And I'm so happy we were both invited to help look after the park.

M: Me too. We've done quite a lot in our roles as volunteers there. Our background as scientists really helps our work.

W: It certainly does. I've enjoyed getting involved in various projects about birds.

M: Yeah. I've also loved walking among the trees. It's amazing how the newly planted ones have stopped growing in height, but grown in width recently so that they spread out their branches.

W: Yeah ... But I'm worried that tourists ignore the fact that the park is a conservation area. There is so much rubbish dropped everywhere. But maybe it's because it's a well-known tourist attraction. It's difficult to ask everyone to stop using the trees as a playground.

M: Mm, you're right. Anyway, tomorrow I'm going to help out with making whatever's still needed there. It's great we got the shelters done so that tourists can go birdwatching and still stay dry.

W: And those plant pots we made will be useful, too.

M: Yeah, now I'd like to get on with making some bird boxes — there just aren't quite enough in the park at the moment.

W: I'll come with you!

Text 9 电影拍摄

M: With us here on our podcast is Abby. She has just won an award for amateur film-makers. Welcome to the show, Abby!

W: Thanks!

M: So what made you enter this contest?

W: I actually remember hearing about it on the radio and immediately decided to try my luck. I've always enjoyed filming people and even directed a school play once. But nothing prepared me for what was to come. And I guess that is lucky because there is nothing like completing a movie.

M: What was the most challenging part about that?

W: I think the hardest of all was getting the crew together. Funding came a close second. The screenplay was the easiest as I had written one for school but hadn't used it. And my parents let me shoot at our house so we didn't have to worry about the venue, saving us the extra cost of renting!

M: Was filming easy then?

W: Not really. Since I had been in school plays before, it came naturally. It was editing that was hard!

M: Was it because of all the different tools you needed?

W: Not at all! The problem was deciding which scenes to cut. Each actor gave it their all. This win is not because of me. It was a team effort.

Text 10 社区博客

Good morning, I am Lisa. In today's edition of Role Models Around Us, our guest is Emily, a 65-year-old grandmother. As you all know, our neighborhood blog Changi Villagers has been a great platform for sharing local news and events. In fact, Emily is the key contributor to it. Not only that, but she also started a new blog called Resources Nearby for residents who want a hand moving heavy furniture or just need a listening ear for their problems. Emily has a great passion for learning. She says it is never too late to learn. She will be launching a new website just for students soon, to help them learn more about topics such as the history of our neighborhood, famous scientists, and the inventions they created. What a role model she is! Now, let's welcome Emily to talk about her idea for the website.
